Fraud, theft charges laid

Charges have been laid by police following a number of incidents during the past week in the county.

A 22 year old Haliburton area resident, Dusty Upton, has been charged with accommodation fraud following an incident at Guilford Grill in West Guilford.

Accommodation fraud involves obtaining food or lodging without paying for the items received.

The charge relates to an incident which occurred December 29.

Upton is scheduled to appear in Provincial Court in Minden on February 4.

Constable Al Bibby is the investigating officer.

Theft

A charge of theft has been laid against a 19 year old

Haliburton resident. The charge is the result of an incident in October at the Halco Audio Visual store in Haliburton.

Neighbours help find missing senior citizen

The Minden Neighbourhood Watch Program was helpful in locating a resident missing from the Hyland Crest Senior Citizen's Home on Christmas Eve.

Charlie Brohm, an 83 year old resident of the home, wandered away from the residence shortly after the supper hour. When an initial search by the staff failed to locate the man, the police were called.

The OPP enlisted the assistance of a number of organizations including the Minden Fire Department, Ambulance Service personnel, as well as officers from the detachment. A request for help was also made to the village co-ordinator for the Neighbourhood Watch program, Phil Graham.

Neighbourhood Watch was introduced in this community several years ago. The program encourages participants to be alert for unusual activity taking place on property adjacent to their own and call the authorities. The main purpose of the organization was to help reduce residential crime, such as break-ins. The community is divided into a number of districts with a section leader for each. These sections are further divided into blocks, each with its own block captains.

After receiving the request from the police, Phil Graham notified the block captains in the McKayville subdivision where the Hyland Crest is located, to keep an eye out for the missing man.

One of those contacted was Cathy Short who lives near the home. Her husband Bert and son David immediately went out to assist in the search for the man. The two followed a number of paths in the wooded area behind the seniors' residence and after 15 or 20 minutes located the missing man.

While Brohm was dressed for winter weather, the freezing rain experienced Christmas Eve had soaked through his jacket and the man was cold and wet. He was taken to Minden Hos-

Sled dog derby organizers are keeping a hopeful eye on the sky: think snow

While the Minden Techni-Cal Challenge Sled Dog Derby organizers are concerned about the lack of snow in the past couple of weeks, as of press time (Tuesday at 4 p.m.) the weekend races are still on.

Race official Steve Loughed told The Times that a decision on whether to hold the race or postpone it will not be made until Wednesday evening. He said at that time the organizing committee will meet to assess track conditions and the possibilities for improving the situation and then decide what course of action to take.

He noted that the lack of precipitation over the past few weeks and the freezing rain at Christmas time has robbed the course of one of the most essential ingredients, snow. While the race uses part of the Haliburton County Snowmobile Association's groomed trails for its four and eight mile courses, a portion of the trail also follows a township concession road. The surface of the roadway is slick and would prove unsafe for dogs and drivers.

Loughed said what is needed is a four inch fall of fresh snow to ensure a proper trail.

If the needed snow doesn't fall from the skies, organizers are looking at several other ways to make the trail suitable for the race. In particular, the organizers are exploring the possibility of having snow brought in by truck and plough to cover the treacherous sections of the trail. Admitting that this would be the poorer of the two options, Loughed noted a fresh snowfall would not only provide material for trail construction, but would add the perfect accent to the setting for the races.

This is the third year for the Minden Techni-Cal Challenge Sled Dog Derby and the organizers predict this will be the biggest yet. One of the main reasons for this optimism is the large purse being offered to this year's participants, by race sponsor Martin Feed Mills of Elmira. The participants in the eight and four dog races will share in a prize pool of $5000, with the first place finisher in the eight dog class guaranteed $1000.

"With that kind of money being offered, and the reputation the Minden race has gained over the past two years, we are attracting some of the top drivers in Canada and the United States," Val Loughed race governor and participant commented. "We can expect to see top calibre competition this weekend."

Once again this year the racers will be competing in two divisions, four dog and eight dog. The four dog class will run a four mile course while the eight dog class will travel eight miles. The races will start and end on the community's Main Street, heading north along the Bobcaygeon Road, cutting cross country just past Dr. Purc's office, travelling around behind the arena and crossing the Bobcaygeon Road at the former Freightmaster sheds. The team will then follow a course laid out along the concession leading to Bob Lake, turning around at the appropriate location and returning to the finish line following the same course.

Spectators can enjoy the excitement of the start and finish along the chute on Minden's Main Street.

Chamber provides race info hotline

Since it is uncertain at press time whether the Minden Techni-Cal Challenge will proceed this weekend, the Haliburton Highlands Chamber of Commerce has agreed to provide information by telephone. Since a decision on the race will not be made until Wednesday evening, area residents are asked to contact the Chamber office starting Thursday morning to determine the status of the races. The number to call is 286-1760. For those outside the county, the Chamber can be reached by calling 1-800-461-1912. This service will be available only during normal business hours.

RENT REVIEW UPDATE FOR TENANTS AND LANDLORDS

The Ministry of Housing announces the Rent Review Guideline for 1987

The Rent Review Guideline for 1987 has been calculated at 5.2 per cent. This is the amount by which a landlord can increase the maximum rent for a unit during 1987 without approval from the Ministry of Housing.

In passing the Residential Rent Regulation Act, 1986, the Ontario Government has created a new system of rent review for the Province of Ontario to increase protection for tenants and to encourage the construction of new rental housing.

One of the important features of this new legislation is a Rent Review Guideline that reflects changes in inflation and promotes proper building maintenance for tenants.

The major features of the Residential Rent Regulation Act are:

- The extension of rent review to cover all private rental units in Ontario.
- The creation of a streamlined rent review process, designed to be accessible, quicker and ensure consistency.
- The establishment of a flexible Rent Review Guideline, adjusted annually to reflect changes in inflation and other economic factors.
- The creation of an Ontario-wide Rent Registry to record the maximum legal rent for every rental unit in the province.
- A Residential Rental Standards Board to ensure the proper maintenance of all rental properties in Ontario.

The Guideline has changed.

Until now, the Guideline has been a fixed amount that did not change with economic conditions.

The new Rent Review Guideline will be adjusted annually. It will be calculated using the most up-to-date components of the Consumer Price Index and other economic indicators. And it will apply to all rental units in the province.

How the new Rent Review Guideline is calculated.

- The formula used to calculate the 5.2 per cent Guideline for 1987 is based on changes in the cost of maintaining a typical well-run rental building.
- The new Guideline calculates the average change in costs over the preceding three-year period.
- Tenants receive greater protection in times of high inflation.
- Landlords have sufficient funds for good building maintenance. A new Residential Rental Standards Board will help ensure proper maintenance of rental units throughout Ontario, and failure to meet these standards may result in either suspension or forfeiture of rent increases.

Tenants can apply for a review of rent increases that are at or below the Guideline.

Tenants who wish to challenge a 5.2 per cent Guideline increase may apply to the Ministry of Housing for rent review on such grounds as changes in the standard of maintenance and repairs.

Landlords are required to justify a rent increase greater than the Guideline.

A landlord who requests more than the 5.2 per cent Guideline increase must apply to the Ministry of Housing for rent review to justify the increase. The landlord and tenants will review the matter with staff of the Ministry of Housing at a local Rent Review Office. A decision reached at the local level may be appealed by either the tenant or landlord to the newly-created Rent Review Hearings Board.

The Guideline will be announced by August 31 each year.

In future, the Ministry of Housing will announce the Guideline by August 31 for the upcoming year.

Some landlords have already served their tenants with notices of a rent increase due early in 1987.

Tenants in buildings constructed after 1975 are protected for the first time.

These are tenants whose units are being brought under rent review by this Act.

- Landlords who have charged tenants more than the Guideline since August 1, 1985, will be given a 60-day period early in 1987 to justify these increases.
- Landlords not applying to rent review within the 60-day period must rebate excess rents to tenants.
- For the present, tenants should pay the amount requested in the notice from their landlord until the matter is resolved by rent review.
- Under no circumstances should tenants make immediate deductions from their rent cheques.

Ministry of Housing
Ontario Hon. Alvin Curling, Minister

Only one rent increase allowed annually.

- Landlords must give tenants at least 90 days written notice of a rent increase.
- The rent for a unit can be increased only once in a 12-month period.

Tenants in buildings constructed before 1976 continue to be protected.

These are tenants whose units were under rent review prior to the passage of the new Act and whose units continue to be under rent review.

- If the landlord's rent notice is for less than the 5.2 per cent Guideline, the tenant should pay the amount in the notice.
- If the landlord's rent notice is for more than the 5.2 per cent Guideline, the most the tenant should pay is 5.2 per cent.
- If the landlord has applied to the Residential Tenancy Commission for a 1986 rent increase but has not yet received a final order, the tenant should pay the amount in the landlord's notice or 4 per cent, whichever is less.
- If the landlord has been to rent review and has received a decision, the tenant must pay the amount approved by the Residential Tenancy Commission.

Mishaps injure drivers appear in Provincial Court in Minden February 4.

The matter is being investigated by Constable Al Bibby.

Snowmobile mishaps

Two separate accidents at the same curve on East Allan Drive in Harcourt Park sent two women to Haliburton Hospital for treatment of injuries.

The first mishap occurred January 1 when 25 year old Donna Nelson of Rexdale was driving a snowmobile which collided with a tree. The other accident occurred a day later when 23 year old Kimberly Kerr of Mississauga lost control of her snowmobile and was sent crashing down an eight foot embankment after clearing the snow cone at the side of the road.

The accidents are being investigated by Constables B. J. Connelly and Mike Legge.

Roll over

Another snowmobile driver was injured in a mishap which occurred December 27. Ian Sharpe, 29, of Richmond Hill was taken to Minden Hospital for treatment after his snow-

There is no cost for admission.

The races being at 11 a.m. on Saturday and 12:30 p.m. on Sunday. Drivers are reminded that one lane of the Main Street bridge will be closed to traffic during the races. Traffic marshals will be posted on the bridge to ensure smooth traffic flow. The parking lane on the right hand side of Bobcaygeon Road from the bridge north to just past Dr. Purc's office will also be closed. Drivers using driveways on this side of the road are asked to use extreme caution when turning in or pulling out. Main Street from the CHACE Place corner to the CIBC corner will be closed to traffic during the races. Through traffic should use Milne Street or Highway 35 to avoid the congestion in the downtown area. All drivers are requested to use caution when travelling in the race area and obey the instructions of the traffic marshals.

Spectators are requested to remain behind the barriers to give the teams ample room on the track. You are also requested to leave dogs at home as their presence could distract the racing dogs and result in a mishap.

The accident was investigated by Constable Ken Wesley.

Found property

Police are seeking the owner of a quantity of cash found in the Gooderham, Irondale area. The money is being held at the Minden detachment of the Ontario Provincial Police.

Stolen property

Police are seeking information regarding the theft of the following items during the past week: a 1976 Ski-Doo Olympic, black and yellow, taken from the Wilberforce area; a 1986 Yamaha ET 340, gold in colour, taken from Moore Lake Marine at Moore Falls; and a Rotex snow vehicle motor, taken from the Tamarack Lake area near Gooderham.

Group will assist one parent families

For the first time in Haliburton County there's an organization catering specifically to the needs of single parent families. It's called the One Parent Families Association of Canada and it has branches in towns and villages across the country.

pital for observation and was later released to celebrate Christmas with his family.

According to Phil Graham, this is the first time the Neighbourhood Watch system had been used to assist in locating a missing individual. He noted that while the program was established with the protection of property as one of its main goals, the use of the network of individuals in the community to assist in locating someone who is lost was also another benefit.

This time it proved to be of value.

"A lot of times," says organizer John Angel, "single parents find themselves in shells. They're so busy holding down a job and seeing to the needs of their kids, that they don't get a chance to socialize with other people."

The purpose of the organization, says Angel, is to provide these families - the kids as well - with the opportunity to get out of the house and do things with other single parent families. Events sponsored by the organization include picnics, barbeques, visits to such attractions as Ontario Place and Canada's Wonderland and dances for the adults.

Angel, a veteran organizer of the Belleville chapter of One Parent Families, believes there's a need for a Haliburton county chapter and he'll be holding a meeting for people interested in joining at the Haliburton Village Orange Lodge hall on January 14 at 8 p.m.

"I think it's important to get single parent families to participate in society," he says. "After being divorced, or widowed, or separated from their mates, people tend to withdraw. I know this from past experience and I understand the reluctance some people may feel at stepping back into the community again."

The membership fee for the organization is $25 per family.

Funds for the different functions are supported by the membership fee and assistance is available from the association itself, which has head offices in Montreal and Toronto.

Angel can be reached by calling 457-2638.

A valuable asset

When the Neighbourhood Watch program was introduced and accepted in this community, it was seen as an excellent vehicle for reinforcing a familiar community value of concern for a neighbour's safety and protection of property. While less prevalent in smaller communities, it seems that our world has become more impersonal. The program's main aim was to encourage individuals to assume a greater responsibility for the security of their neighbourhood. In the face of police manpower cuts it made even more sense to enlist the efforts of the community as a whole to combat any potential criminal activity.

The value of the program reaches beyond that single purpose as well. By being alert, neighbourhoods can assist in reporting fires, assuring that the elderly or infirm do not feel isolated and generally rekindle the spirit of a community.

Another, equally valuable extension of the Neighbourhood Watch program came to light during the Christmas period when the police called on the assistance of a sector of the community to help locate a resident of Hyland Crest who had wandered away from the seniors' residence. The quick response by neighbours, who had a more intimate knowledge of the search area, helped to avert a potentially tragic situation. There were, as Hyland Crest administrator Karl Samuelson points out in his letter to the editor on this page, other groups and individuals involved in the search. Their participation was equally valuable.

This new element of community involvement is a valuable extension of the Neighbourhood Watch program which could indeed see more use than the initial purpose for which it was established. Help in searching for a missing child, for example, could be quickly mustered through the Neighbourhood Watch network.

While the program may seem to some to be nothing more than a few signs posted at the entrances to the village, Neighbourhood Watch has proven itself to be a valuable asset to this community.

Look, up in the sky

- by Arthur Black -

*Faster than a speeding bullet!
More powerful than a locomotive!
Able to leap tall buildings at a single bound!*

Look! Up in the sky!

It's a bird!

It's a plane!

It's ... SUPERMAN!

Oh dear. Now I've dated myself. I can recite that mantra off by heart. I ought to be able to — it was something that was chanted by little boys all over the schoolyard all recess long when I was growing up. Of course that was a less complicated time, long before the advent of E.T.'s R2 D2's, C3PO's and Close Encounters of Any Kind.

Superman. Every boy-child I knew, including this one, fantasized about flying faster than the speed of sound, using X ray vision to see through walls and catching high velocity machine gun bullets in the palms of our hands.

All you ardent Canadian nationalists about to take pen in hand to chastize me for glorifying yet another American hero — don't, because he wasn't. An American hero I mean. Superman was invented by Toronto cartoonist Joe Shuster. You might not have heard of Joe but you probably know his cousin Frank. He's the other half of Wayne and ...

I would think that Joe Shuster probably knew, and was certainly influenced by, another talented Canuck, Harold Foster. "Hal" was a Haligonian who revolutionized the art of newspaper comics a half century or so ago. Foster drew the Tarzan comic strip back in the thirties — but in a way that comic strips had never been drawn before. He moved the art from crude cartoon characters to well-drawn, realistic-looking ones. Foster is also the man who created a comic character that many aficionados consider the pinnacle of comic strip artistry — Prince Valiant. That strip had a special aura of authenticity about it. The ships, costumes, weapons and buildings all looked right. That was no accident. Hal Foster spent his summers prowling around Scandinavian and Mediterranean museums researching medieval life to make his strip more realistic. And he drew Prince Valiant for an astonishing 42 years.

As for the Superman comic, the Canadian connection is still alive and well there, decades after Joe Shuster's departure. The fellow who draws it today is a young lad by the name of John Byrne and he's just about the hottest thing in the international world of comic illustration right now. He also works on The X Men and The Fantastic

Four.

Oh yes ... and John's a Canuck. He hails from Calgary, Alberta and London, Ontario.

I got to thinking about comics and Canadians after a small story caught my eye in the New York Daily News. The Lone Ranger Is Missing the headline read. The story told how Tom Gill, the man who drew the world's most famous masked man, had had an accident. He'd left a portfolio crammed with original Lone Ranger drawings by a ticket booth in the New York subway.

Now, I realize that such an event probably strikes non-comic book fans as a disaster of lesser magnitude than, say, the Krakatoa eruption or even the Great Blizzard of '79, but Tom Gill is the man who drew The Lone Ranger for more than 20 years. Original drawings of something like that are historically irreplaceable.

The other reason I was particularly interested in the story is that I ... sort of knew Tom Gill. A few months ago I interviewed him, and found him to be a warm and friendly man of impeccable manners and palpable graciousness. It seemed especially cruel that this kind and unassuming gentleman could forfeit what amounted to the fruits of his life's work through one moment of forgetfulness. The last line of the newspaper story mentioned that Tom Gill was offering a $200 reward for the return of his drawings, no questions asked. Fat chance, I thought to myself. Return of lost or stolen property? From the New York subway??? People had lost their mothers down there.

Well, all I can say is I'm glad I force myself to read the New York Daily News at least once a week. Nine days after the sad story of Tom Gill's loss appeared another headline stopped me cold. Masked Man Returns! it read. It told of how Tom Gill had been reunited with his drawings, thanks to a good Samaritan (and Lone Ranger fan) who found the portfolio and tracked Tom Gill down. "I'm thrilled" said Tom Gill.

Well, I'm thrilled too. Mister Gill's a nice man who deserved the special Christmas present.

Did I mention why I interviewed Tom Gill in the first place? It wasn't just because he drew The Lone Ranger for all those years. There was another connection as well.

The old Canadian one. Tom Gill was born in Winnipeg back in 1918.

But enough. I'm out of room. Time to go. Or as Tom Gill might phrase it:

HI YO SILVER! AWAYYYYYYYYYY!

Editor:

A few evenings ago, one of our residents became rather confused and disoriented and left Hyland Crest. The resident wandered around the vicinity and later returned.

Naturally, immediately upon detecting the absence of the resident we initiated our search procedure. While unsupervised absences are rare at Hyland Crest, there always exists a possibility that a resident may become confused and wander unattended. Normally, the person is quickly returned under staff supervision, but in those cases when additional help is required it is good to know that help is given so freely, promptly and courteously. Such was the case a few evenings ago and I wish to send very special thanks to a number of people.

The O.P.P., the Fire Department and the Minden Ambulance Service were most cooperative and supportive. Special mention should be made to the neighbours in the area of Hyland Crest who came out to help. Their efforts give testimony to the community-minded nature of the Village of Minden.

Again, thanks to each of you.

The Report of the House of Commons Standing Committee on Government Operations in regard to the Canada Post Corporation's five-year plan for 1986 - 87 to 1990 - 91 called for the closure, amalgamation and franchising of rural Post Offices.

Child care needs continue to grow

- by Faith Aggett -

Why are child care workers advocating universal free day care?

I am of the belief that it is for the benefits it would afford society as a whole. Our society has changed drastically in the past few years. Mobility has created the nuclear family unit. And even that family unit is being broken down further by teenage pregnancies, separations and divorces. Finances and today's rapid pace add more pressures. It is projected that the number of women in the work force will soon reach 80%. Then there is the whole new issue of the latch-key kids. Where does all this leave the child?

We can not turn the clock back. It is no longer sufficient to say "we raised ours just fine ourselves" or "there are too many government programmes already!" We don't know what the product of today's society will be or what the structure of tomorrow will be. Will they be strong, honest law abiding citizens? Or will they be social degenerates, angry and lost. What are today's punkers and new wave trying to express?

Universal free day care would mean that regardless of age, location, financial standing, race or creed, licensed child care would be available to all. As I have said before, good child care is expensive. Private enterprise find it increasingly more difficult to see a profit. Infants are the first cut back because regulations insist on fewer children/adult and staff are expensive. Fewer investors see child care as a gain and existing child centres have lengthy waiting lists. Poorly paid staff become disgruntled and the turnover is frequent. Rural areas are inadequately serviced.

When one considers that a child's most formative years are between the ages of 1-5, I don't believe we should delay in finding a solution. Our federal and provincial governments both see the importance of a new programme but fear the opposition of the tax-payer should the most obvious solution be implemented. And yet this is already a gift of life in many European countries. Is it a case of educating, a change of attitude, a change of prospective?

I believe an ounce of protection is worth a pound of cure and that a little investment in our future citizens may mean a better tomorrow.

which was presented to the House on December 15, 1986, recommended a few changes and emphasised some aspects of the Plan. One point that the Committee enlarged upon was the privatization of certain rural Post Offices. While the Committee's observations about the human resource issues are appreciated, I must stress that I consider the privatization of these operations to be most illogical. If, by suggesting the Post Offices in certain rural communities be turned over to private operators, the Corporation is saying that a profit can be made from them, why then is the Corporation, which needs money, giving them up? If they are not profitable, what guarantee do the citizens of these communities have that their postal service will continue in the future?

What will happen to the Government representation in these communities, to its ability to assist citizens with the completion of Government forms such as U.I.C., gasoline tax rebate, income tax, birth certificates, access to information, etc.?

The Post Offices in the rural areas are the perfect example of what the motto of Canada Post means "Service to the People". Service is exactly what the people in rural Canada want, and that is what the Government should ensure they get.

The Rural Operations Group of Canada Post Corporation is supported by individuals mailing in smaller communities, and through a variety of services such as general delivery, lock box and rural route delivery. Canada Post recognizes that the Rural Operations Group is a service-oriented body, in stating that they do not generate sufficient revenue. It is our view that the quality of service to rural residents should be maintained even at a net cost to Canada Post.

To this end we solicit your support in writing to your Federal member stating that your Post Office be saved, therefore ensuring that postal service to your community remain as it is today.

Trappers may use ATC's on highways

Minister of Transportation and Communications Ed Fulton, recently announced, licensed trappers may now use all-terrain vehicles on most highways in Ontario as a result of an amendment to the Off-Road Vehicles Act.

Licensed trappers will now be allowed to drive all-terrain vehicles along highways when using these vehicles to tend their traplines.

"While operating an ATV on a highway, trappers will have to display a slow-moving sign on the rear of their vehicle; hold a valid driver's licence; wear an approved helmet; and, of course, have insurance," said Fulton.

What do you think?

by Bill Kulas

Have you ever noticed in watching a televised American baseball or football game that almost everyone in the stands sings the national anthem. There's a deep rooted feeling of pride for country and flag. I think it's something this country could use a little of.

With free trade talks and the recent problems experienced over softwood exports to the United States we Canadians should dig in our heels and be a little more proud of ourselves and our country!

We are a small country in terms of population, but yet we inhabit one of the largest countries, in terms of land mass, in the world. We're a country rich in natural resources such as: timber, iron ore, gold, silver, base metals, oil, gas, prime agricultural land and that very precious commodity, water ... Canada owns one fifth of the world's fresh water supply.

When our political leaders talk of free trade, I'd ask that they not sell us short! We depend very heavily on exports, and have benefitted from a large trade surplus with our trading partner to the south. The U.S. as well as other countries have also benefitted by having purchased our raw materials at reasonable prices for a long while. At the same time the United States along with countries such as Japan, West Germany, Korea and Taiwan, just to name a few, have developed export methods of mass production.

In a free trade situation many feel that a large number of jobs in the small to medium size manufacturing range in Canada may be jeopardized. It's difficult to imagine that manufacturing companies in Canada, who have geared production to meet the needs of our small population, could compete effectively with an American company producing the same goods for a 225 million plus population.

Consumers could possibly benefit in terms of getting more for their dollar on certain goods, but what of the lost jobs that our government freely acknowledges might result. What of plant closings and possible merging of U.S. affiliates in Canada back to U.S. bases. No one can say it won't happen. What of the recent Goodyear Tire plant closing in Toronto putting hundreds out of work. According to reports the plant had made a twelve million dollar profit for 1985, but due to a merger company executives wished to consolidate production in the U.S. at the expense of closing a profitable Canadian operation. Wise move?

So to those who are representing us in the Free Trade discussions with our American cousins, a Happy New Year, and please don't forget the old Latin saying, "Caveat Emptor", Let the Buyer Beware! Think about it!

from the chamber

by Shawn Hagerman

One of the best indicators of tourism activity that I have come across, is the distance from my office that I have to park my car in the summer. Unless I come early in the morning it is generally well down the street, somewhere near the Guild of Fine Arts.

I am happy to report that the same distance for parking seems to have been occurring for the last couple of weeks. This empirical observation seems to be born on some factual substance. I was just speaking today to our Manager Shirley Rapson, and she indicated that she has received over 40 letters from the U.S.A. December 15th, inquiring on snowmobiling trails and accommodations in Haliburton County. Their letters refer to the fact that they have read the centre-fold, two page, four colour write up, by C. J. Ramstead in the Snowmobile Magazine.

This article is a result of Mr. Ramstead's visit to our county last January. The Chamber office is answering each one of the letters as they come in, and bookings are resulting. The in-watts line has also been especially busy this December, the inquiries tended to be more directed to cross-county skiing and the trail system as well as over the Christmas season the Chamber Office has averaged, between 30 and 40 people a day coming in for information. Many have been most pleased with our winter map since in one brochure they can obtain information on skis, ski trails, snowmobile trails, coming events and accommodations.

It would be very helpful if the resorts could phone in, and inform the Chamber Office of those weekends or weeks that they are full. This would help the Chamber Office immensely in ensuring that the inquiries for accommodation get placed.

There are a lot of activities coming up in the months of January and February. Keep in mind that the first of these is the sled dog derby in Minden on Saturday, January 10th and Sunday the 11th. This starts on the main street on Saturday and on Sunday at 12:30. This event is free to all spectators.

Competition heats up

As the playoffs in the Minden's Men's Recreational Hockey League near, competition becomes fierce.

And fierce is certainly the best way to describe the three games that took place last Monday night.

Starting off the action were Hartwick Construction and The Times. Hartwick edged The Times 7-4.

The first period was close with Harold Cowen of The Times scoring the only goal, assisted by Ben Manuge.

But the scoreboard started to move in the second period as Hartwick managed to notch up the first four of a six goal streak. Scorers were Dan Read assisted by Gary Nelson; Brian Shaw assisted by Trent Lloyd; Eldon Bull assisted by Lloyd and Read assisted by Lloyd.

As the buzzer went at the start of the third period, The Times was down by three goals. They had to get back in the game and they knew it. But Hartwick kept up their streak for two more goals, scored by Sid MacKeigan assisted by Read and Eldon Bull assisted by Brian Shaw.

Then The Times came back with three in a row. Goals were scored by Boomer Stamp assisted by Manuge; Carl Northey assisted by Manuge and Manuge. This brought the score to 4-6 for Hartwick. But once again before the end of the last period, Hartwick got another one by The Times goalie, nothing up the score to 7-4.

In game two on Monday night, Hall's Insurance beat the Rockcliffe Foamblowers 6-4. In perhaps the chippiest game of the evening, referees gave out a total of 21 penalties.

The first period saw both teams fighting for the advantage but none getting it. The first goal was put in by Rockcliffe's Peter Walker but Hall's came back with two more by Lawrence Lougheed and Rick Salmon. However, Rockcliffe finished off the period with one more goal, scored by Doug Thain.

So at the start of the second period, Hall's and Rockcliffe faced each other with a two all tie. And Hall's began to edge ahead. First Hall's player Louie Reynolds knocked in one for his team and then Lougheed came in for his second goal of the evening.

The third period started with Hall's leading the game 4-2. They increased their advantage again, this time by Lougheed again.

Rockcliffe came back with a goal by Dave Pettes, which Hall's matched with another by Lougheed (his fourth of the game). Rockcliffe's Doug Thain scored the last goal of the game, bringing the score to 6-4.

In the final game of the evening, Home Hardware trounced Vasey Real Estate 10-4.

Vasey player Bern Berry put in the first goal of the game but Home almost immediately took the lead with a four goal streak. Scorers were: Dean Hewitt (2) John Barkwell and John Fedeski.

Vasey came back and dominated the second period with two goals by Bart Hilhorst and Barry Walker.

However the third period went badly for Vasey. They got only one goal while Home managed six. Home scorers were: Barkwell (3), Jeff Howe (2) and Dave Dollo. The Vasey goal getter was Dave Hartwick.

Drag Lake closed to winter fishing

The winter lake trout fishery in Drag Lake will be closed annually from January 1 to the third Saturday in May. Wayne Wilson, District Biologist in Minden indicated that "The additional protection afforded the lake trout in Drag Lake will enable them to more effectively control the large herring population which currently appears to be depressing the lake trout population".

Within the next five years it is expected that Drag Lake will provide a better open water fishery, with more, larger fish being caught. This fishery will be carefully monitored by the Haliburton - Hastings Assessment Unit to document the effects of this management technique.

Restoration of historic Kinn major tourist attraction

John Austin isn't exactly sure where his great-grandfather was born. What he does know is that sometime around 1890, John Austin, Sr., built a sawmill in a crook of the Burnt River beside the Village of Kinmount. The mill prospered and despite a series of mishaps, including a fire in 1942 after which it had to be rebuilt, the business grew for the next sixty or more years.

"At the start, there was also a shingle mill," Austin explains. "I think it was built around 1908, but it got burned down - that was sometime before the fire in '42." The precise details, he admits, are long forgotten.

During the boom years of the lumber industry in Ontario, Kinmount was a wealthy town. Old photographs show sidewalks bustling with people wrapped in reams of formal black cloth who walk with purpose. A steady stream of carriage traffic winds through the streets, and overhead multi-storey buildings elaborately ornamented with balconies and flags attest to the presence of money.

It was lumber money that built Kinmount and, for that matter, most of the towns in Haliburton and Victoria counties. They prospered when their rivers and lakes were filled in spring with log booms, and they suffered with the industry as the supply of trees ran out in the 1930's and 40's.

As everybody knows, there were some lean years after the trees were gone. The land in most places wasn't fertile enough to support farms, so with no way to make a living, many people moved south and west for the jobs. But they left behind their sawmills, reminders of a rough and happy past.

Fallen to the elements

Austin isn't sure how many of the old mills are left; certainly not a lot. Some have been demolished, others have been taken apart to put up new buildings, but most have just fallen prey to the elements. The Kinmount mill is one of the few that remain.

Now, as you drive through Kinmount, there is little to remind you of the lumbermen who built the village. The old hotels on the main street were replaced by lesser, more sober, structures after the fire of '42. Though the train station has been restored and is now used as a meeting place for senior citizens, and the tracks which carried Kinmount lumber to markets in the south have been taken up. And of course the population of the village isn't anything like it used to be.

But still there's the immense red brick Catholic church on the hill overlooking Kinmount, and if you look to the right as you drive south across the bridge you see the weathered remains of the Austin mill. Perched on the edge of the river, it is beginning to tilt. Continued existence is dubious.

But a lot of people in Kinmount are working hard addition of certain safety elements and an observation area for tourists. According to the plan, the mill would be run as it was when it was built, powered by a water turbine and operated by a crew of between 10 and 20 men. It would be reasonable to assume, says the plan, that the reconstructed mill would attract a steady stream of tourists and visitors which would greatly benefit the surrounding area.

The scenario is a rosy one. The only problem is the cost

Somerville Township, explains that the present plan is the result of three years effort. Usually the government funds such projects at the level of about 50 per cent and puts the onus on the applicant to dig up the rest.

"Of course there's no way we could even come up with $300,000 ourselves, but there are other levels of government and programs that I think would be willing to help," Young says.

Young is certain the project would work. "There's nothing like the Kinmount mill within a radius of 100 miles," he explains. "And what makes it unique is the water wheel which powers it. In most mills the wheel sat perpendicular to the water and could be easily seen, but our wheel - which is more of a turbine - sits horizontally in the water."

It develops 146 horsepower - enough to run all the saws and machinery in the mill.

"People need a reason to go somewhere," he says. "The mill here could be that reason."

"There's nothing like the Kinmount Mill within a radius of 100 miles" to see the mill preserved. They don't want their village to lose touch completely with its past.

Last July, Somerville Township council unveiled a plan to reconstruct the old building. The new structure would be built much as the old one - except for the of the project, estimated at about $650,000.

Three year's effort

"We're confident we can raise the money," says Bryce Young, one of the men who have been working hardest to save the mill. Young, who's also deputy reeve of

First open for business in 1890, the Austin Sawmill in the village of Kinmount was still operating with its original water wheel until the early '70's.

mount landmark will create

Young brings up another reason for reconstructing the mill. "When the lumber industry died here, it was a slow and painful death. It happened mostly back in the '30's and '40's, when there were no social programs to soften the impact. People left because they had to. It was the only way to eat.

"Nowadays when a big industry goes through troubles, the government is there with money to bail it out and with help for those unfortunate enough to be laid off.

"If we don't do something to save the mill, that part of our history will be gone. There'll be nothing left to remind us of our past."

Certainly, if the project is successful, Young will acquire a feather for his cap, but his words have the ring of truth. Minden and Haliburton villages are today only a shadow of their former selves. Where once rough logging crews and trappers found entertainment during breaks from work, now more sedate cottagers busily shop for supplies. The old buildings have gone as well.

The plan, Young explains, is for the township to buy the mill and the land it stands on from the Austin family. That way the mill can be made eligible for government funding as a community project. All but the fine print at the bottom of the contract has been worked out.

At present the township council is still waiting for the final draft of a feasibility study, and once completed it will be in a position to make a formal application to the government. Young is cautious about predicting immediate success. "The preliminary results of the study suggest to me that the government will look on our application favourably," he says. "And if everything works out, the mill should be operating in 1988."

Though he'll lose something that's been in his family for almost 100 years, John Austin also hopes the project will succeed. "I really think it would be a good thing for everybody if the mill could be saved, because it represents so much of our past. There's really a lot of things about the mill and about my great-grandfather that I should have found out. But he's long dead and it's too late now."

Story by John Greenwood

A log boom floats in the Burnt River awaiting the saw at the Austin Mill in 1957.

The Austin Sawmill was the centre of economic activity for the community of Kinmount at the turn of the century. It helped boost the local economy and make the town a thriving centre of commerce. The brick structure seen in the middle of the river is a sawdust burner.

Winners at the regular Club 35 card party this week include for door prize - Velda Harrison, most lone hands - Hazel Gregory, high lady - Madeline Redfern, high man - Harry Randell and others Clarence Bunker, Ines Mestroni and Hal Burton.

At the moment there is a crust on the snow or it is very icy, we would think it difficult for snowmobile control. Some of the lakes have ice for fishing but check before you venture out. Keep smiling.

What will it be ... this coming year ... what views will grace life's scene ... will we see war clouds overhead or will things be serene ... will health and happiness abound and hold us in its sway ... or will we know deep misery ... and go the gloomy way ... will we be lucky or will we ... lose almost everything ... so that we'd wish that '87 ... would fly by with a zing ... will love be born ... or will it die ... or will friends come or go ... we're wondering this, but it's far better ... that we do not know.

Happy New Year to everyone! I have had a nice week in Kitchener with some of my family. Weather was lovely there.

Sunday evening services were conducted by Rev. J. Burgess, and Tuesday morning by Rev. Phillips of Haliburton United Church. The movies Monday evening were "Broom of Mexico" and "Three Above Sixty Degrees North".

Wednesday night the Fearrey's entertained us with music and singing. It was very much enjoyed by those present. We have quite a few people sick with the flu. We hope they will be well soon.

Mrs. Barnum had her sister and her husband Mr. and Mrs. Cameron of Peterborough in to see her on Friday. Charlie Brohm had his son Ed and family in to visit with him at the New Year.

We welcome another new resident, Mr. Harry Martin.

Birthdays for December are Lily Hogg, Lydia McNeil, Arthur Young and Gordon Carr. We wish them many more birthdays.

Edna Cowan is among the folks who are ill. There were so many visitors in here this week it would be difficult to name them all, even if I knew them. It's always nice to see people come in. Mrs. Barnum had Darlene McIlwain call on her this afternoon.

A curve in a smile straightens out a lot of things.

If all's well, see you next week.

Happy New Year.

Staanworth Court residents welcome the new year

Hi folks.

We do hope you had a Happy, Holy Season!

Many of our residents spent the holidays with relatives and friends in Toronto, Kingston, Port McNicoll and Barrie.

We are glad to see George Davidson home from the hospital. Keep well, George.

Edna Smith is feeling somewhat better and is back home with us.

Emily Poole has recently returned from a pleasant holiday with relatives in Toronto.

We express our sympathy to Corinne Arseneault in the loss of her Aunt and also to Emily Poole in the loss of her brother.

Kathleen Thorn and Eleanor Ferris enjoyed very much their trip to see the Ice Capades in Toronto. They tell us that the costumes were beautiful, the skating very graceful, and using Kathleen's words, "It was just fantastic."

A sincere thank you goes out to the Stanhope Fire Fighters for supplying a van to take four of our tenants, Florence Lindsay, Holly Cooper, Melissa Hampson and Marg Horsley to their Christmas party. The children did so well entertaining us under the leadership of Mrs. Coleman. Santa also a very welcome guest as shown by the wee ones especially. We congratulate the S.F.F.'s for the lovely pins given out to the seniors. The logo was quite appropriate.

Many happy returns of the day goes out to the birthday folks this month of December, namely - Vivian Anderson, Mabel Trodd and Margaret Horsley.

Our annual Christmas party was very much enjoyed by our tenants, visiting directors, and entertainer

Bill Payne and his group.

Many familiar songs were sung as well as instrumentals. A dainty lunch followed after Santa finished passing out gifts to all. See you all again, Merry Christmas, and Goodnight was expressed as each went his own way home. Much credit goes out to Corinne and Hector for this evening's good time, and we wish them a very happy year, 1987, with us.

We wish to express our appreciation of the visits by the young carollers of Minden United Church and those young people who sang carols in our corridors. No matter how often we hear those beautiful Christmas carols, they still sounded as sweet again this year.

New Year's Eve was spent in getting in the mood to celebrate the incoming New Year, 1987. Euchre and cribbage started the evening off. This was followed by tasty hors d'oeuvres and punch prepared by Lillian and George and the food committee. At 12 o'clock everyone stood, joined hands, and harmonized in the old Scottish ballad Auld Lang Syne. (I must remark that the spirit of friendliness was so prominent and enjoyable that we look forward to its continuance all year 1987).

Thought from December poem - The Miracle of Christmas.

"No one will ever find a way

To banish Christ from Christmas Day,

For, — with each little child is born again

That Miracle that baffles men."

May God bless each and everyone in 1987. Happy New Year. — MH.

"WHERE THE ACTION IS"

Branch 129 news

by Gerald Irish

Christmas is over and Joan and I hope everyone had as merry a one as we did. Our whole family, with the exception of one, was able to be home with us. Small children make Christmas and we enjoyed having our five grandchildren help us celebrate the festive season.

The Legion's New Year's Ball was a tremendous success. The Frank Howard Orchestra kept the dance floor filled with people enjoying the big band sound for which this orchestra is so well known.

The revellers were also treated to a fabulous hot and cold buffet prepared by Wayne "Woody" Wood. It kept Woody very busy slicing the almost one hundred pounds of roast beef. The buffet tables were groaning under the weight of many tasty dishes.

For those who were concerned about getting home safely after the dance, the Branch 129 D.A.D. (Designated Abstaining Driver) programme was in effect. Two Legion friends donated their driving services and vehicles and Northernways Transit Ltd. donated a van, with Mrs. Thelma Dair as the driver. The sincere thanks of Branch 129 goes out to the volunteers and Northernways. We were pleased to see many people use the D.A.D. programme.

On January 15, the Legion/Rotary sponsored Wintario show and live telecast will be a reality. Posters are up around the village. Tickets are available at all local Wintario ticket outlets, Rotary Club members and at the Legion. The doors will open at 6:15 and the local talent show starts at 7 p.m. This show will feature Joey Nicholson, the Guild Choir and John Miller, Melissa Stephens and Nancy Robichaud. Limited tickets are available. Get yours soon.

Don't forget, the General Meeting will be on January 8 at 8 p.m.

Lorne Coburn

The Minden community and Haliburton County lost a dedicated and active citizen in the passing of Lorne Coburn December 22.

Probably best known through his service to the community as a pharmacist, Lorne was the owner of the Minden Drug Store from 1949 to 1972 at which time he sold the business. While it may have been the familiar face in the dispensary that people recall when thinking of Lorne, he was also an active and contributing member of the community providing his expertise and dedication in a number of less prominent, but none-the-less important, roles.

Lorne Coburn was a member of the School Board for 14 years, serving a term as the board's chairman. He was a director of the Haliburton Highlands Chamber of Commerce and was an honorary member of the Haliburton Highlands Guild of Fine Arts.

He had been an active member of Rotary Club of Minden, serving as president of the club for one year. Lorne served as Governor of Sir Sandford Fleming College from 1975 to 1982, including two terms as vice chairman. A member of the Minden United Church, he was active in many aspects of the church's ministry, serving as a Session Member since 1958.

Lorne Coburn was always willing to lend a hand. Fund raising efforts for the Canadian National Institute for the Blind, the Red Cross and the Minden Hospital all benefitted from his dedicated efforts. He was also a willing volunteer in Hyland Crest Senior Citizen's Home, helping in the tuck shop and visiting with the residents.

He was also well-known for his eager involvement in the sports of curling, golf and skating.

Snowmobile safety

by Doreen Hawman

Now that we have snow on the ground, thoughts turn to snowmobiling. In order to help you insure yourself of a safe and enjoyable ride, I would like to pass along some very good tips from the Ministry of Transportation. Before heading out, examine the steering mechanism, turn the handlebars back and forth to make sure turning is "free". The condition and the tension of the drive belt is very important, if frayed replace. Always check the emergency switch, the front headlamp, tail lights, battery solution level, the free movement of the throttle and brake levers. Fill the gas tank and examine the spark plugs.

Always shut off the motor before you refuel.

Better take along: A first aid kit, a tool kit, an extra ignition key, a drive belt and spark plugs. On excursions include a compass, trail maps, flashlight, hunting knife, hatchet, fuel reserve and matches in a waterproof box.

Before setting out, always be informed on local weather forecasts and ice conditions. Be sure you let someone know where you will be travelling and when you expect to be back.

An excellent guide for the first time snowmobiler and others, is the Recreational Vehicle Handbook, available at the Haliburton County Information Centre, Drag River Municipal Building, Haliburton or call 457-2733.

AT REST

BONIS Winifred Grace

It is with sadness that the family announces the passing of Winifred Grace Bonis (nee Evans) on November 15, 1986 in her 80th year. Beloved wife of Rev. Robert Bonis (West Hill). Loving mother of Peggy (Mrs. Art Gillespie) West Hill, David of Putnam, Peter of Lindsay, Ruth (Mrs. Spink) of West Hill and Sylvia of Toronto. Dearly loved Gran to 13 grandchildren. Born in Shuenking, China of missionary parents, Mrs. Bonis received her nursing degree in Newcastle-on-Tyne, England. As a bride and groom in 1931, Rev. and Mrs. Bonis came to the Anglican parish of Minden. Rev. Bonis ministered to the congregation of St. Paul's, Minden, Gelert, Hindon Hill and in the Scotch Line School House. Mrs. Bonis' nursing skills were frequently used in the community. Their 3 eldest children were born in the log Clergyhouse in Minden. The family moved to West Hill in 1938 but returns each year to Minden to enjoy the beauty and peace of their Mountain Lake Cottage. Winifred Bonis leaves a cherished legacy of joy of life, love of nature and all mankind to all that were privileged to know and love this most remarkable woman. In the heavenly kingdom, Winifred Grace Bonis has earned many jewels in her crown. "Well done good and faithful servant".

IN MEMORIAM

UPTON: In loving memory of Jean Upton who passed away January 3, 1985.

We've thought of you
These past few years
With many thoughts
And many tears.

As each and every Day goes by
We think of you
And often cry.

We think of times
We used to share
And hope you know
We'll always care.

As the years
Keep slipping by
We know in time
We all shall die.

And when that time
Shall come for us all
We know that God
Will give us a call.

And when our time
Has come to an end
We will all be
A family again.
